Sewer treatment plant update to begin this month, loan approved

Work is expected to begin this month on renovations at Hoopeston's sewer treatment plant.

Alderman Drew Allen, said at Tuesday's city council meeting that contractors held a walk-through last Thursday and that once preliminary work is completed, renovations will begin on the estimated $2.07 million project.

Preliminary activity will include work around the filter building and draining the chlorine contact chamber, Allen said.

In unrelated action, the council unanimously approved a $40,000 revolving loan to Dave and Penny Gaddis, owners of Gaddis Nursery and Hoopeston Monument.

The loan will be repaid over seven years with an 8.25 percent interest rate, said Alderman Bill Goodwine, revolving loan committee chairman.

The money will be used to pay existing debts and build a new structure at the nursery site at 526 W. Orange. The new building will house offices for both companies, Goodwine said.

Other money for the project is expected to come from the Small Business Administration. The companies are expected to create 4 full-time equivalent jobs, Goodwine said.

Finally, the council heard from resident Tom Scott, who requested the new police chief be hired from among the ranks of the Hoopeston Police Department. "We've got a good bunch, bar none," Scott said. "Let's stand behind them and let them
